

What's Happening in the Libraries

November 2018

November 1

Mark Jarman, Centennial Professor of English, Vanderbilt University

Plenary Reading

7:00pm

Central Library Community Room

The public is invited to attend this poetry reading, kicking off The Association of Literary Scholars, Critics, and Writers conference at Vanderbilt University.

November 2

DS Workshop: Understanding Copyright in Publishing and in the Classroom

11:10am-12:00pm

Central Library 418A

Join us for this introduction to Fair Use. In addition, we will explore the copyright implications of publication agreements as well as strategies for securing more of your rights to your research.

November 2

R For Data Science: Relational Data with dplyr

1:00pm-2:30PM

Central Library 800BB

This R programming group welcomes learners of all skill levels and academic backgrounds.

November 7

Curator's Talk: Fit to Print in Nashville: Nashville Journalists

11:15am—12:00pm

Special Collections

Join us in the Special Collections Library from 11:15am-12:00pm every Wednesday morning during this semester for fascinating talks led by library librarians, archivists, and curators. To see the full series, click here.

November 7

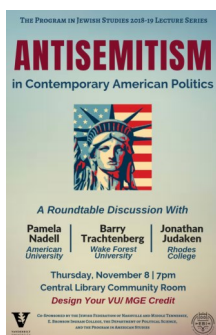

Antiquarian Rare Book and Manuscript Road Show

6:00pm-7:30pm

Central Library Community Room

Bring your written treasures to Vanderbilt Library for a free "Antiques Roadshow"-style event. Find out more about your valued object from rare book experts, conservators, and appraisers!

November 8

Jewish Studies Roundtable--Antisemitism in Contemporary American Politics

7:00pm—8:30pm

Central Library Community Room

We want to help the Vanderbilt and Nashville community make sense of these developments in a broader historical and political lens.

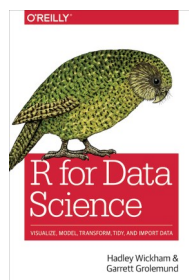

November 9

Digital Scholarship Workshop: Creating and Using an ORCID ID

11:10am-12:00pm

Central Library 418A

At this workshop, you will learn how to create an ORCID ID for yourself, associate yourself with your existing publications, and use your ORCID ID to disambiguate yourself in the future.

November 9

R For Data Science: Strings with stringr

1:00pm-2:30PM

Central Library 800BB

This R programming group welcomes learners of all skill levels and academic backgrounds.

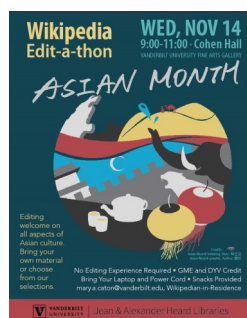

November 12

Unfurling the Flag: Honoring Veterans and Vanderbilt's Historic Flag

11:30am -1:30pm

Library Lawn

Join the Chancellor and the Provost as we unfurl Vanderbilt's historic and biggest flag!

November 14

Wikipedia Editathon: Asian Month

9:00am-11:00am

Vanderbilt Fine Art Gallery

Learn how to edit a Wikipedia entry from the Libraries' experts! No editing experience required.

November 14

Curator's Talk: Franz Rosenzweig and His "Star"

11:15am—12:00pm

Special Collections

Join us in the Special Collections Library from 11:15am-12:00pm every Wednesday morning during this semester for fascinating talks led by library librarians, archivists, and curators. To see the full series, click here.

November 14

William Wylie, Professor of Art & Director of the Studio Department, UVA

"The Possibility of Ruins: A Pompeii Archive"

4:10pm

203 Cohen Hall

William Wylie's lecture is presented in conjunction with Pompeii Archive: Recent Photographs by William Wylie

November 14-16

GIS Day

Varying times and locations

Central Library 418A

Learn about GIS and see Vanderbilt's innovative applications of technology, data collection, geospatial information visualization, and thought leadership through geographic information system (GIS) technology.

November 16

Digital Scholarship Workshop: Scalar for Collaborative Web Projects

11:10am-12:00pm

Central Library 418A

Come learn the basics of Scalar, a born-digital, multimedia writing platform. You'll learn how to build collaborative projects using non-linear formats. Based on the semantic web standard RDF, Scalar is open source and allows easy navigation through Web content.

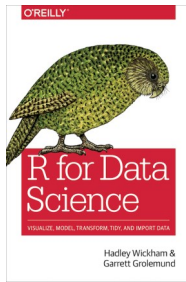

November 28

Curator's Talk: A Full House: Books about Cards & Gaming

11:15am—12:00pm

Special Collections

Join us in the Special Collections Library from 11:15am-12:00pm every Wednesday morning during this semester for fascinating talks led by library librarians, archivists, and curators. To see the full series, click here.

November 30

Welcome to R/RStudio

1:00pm-2:30PM

Central Library 800BB

This R programming group welcomes learners of all skill levels and academic backgrounds.

And don't miss our exhibitions in the Libraries and Fine Art Gallery...

Vanderbilt Silver

Special Collections

Closing November 12

Hours

Vandy Goes to War

Special Collections

Closing November 12

Hours

From Listeners to Leaders: A History of Women at Vanderbilt

Central Library, Second Floor Gallery

Through November 2018

Hours

The History of Kirkland Hall

Special Collections

Through December 2018

Hours

Sebastian Münster and 16th Century Christian Hebraism

Divinity Library

Hours

Pompeii Archive: Recent Photographs by William Wylie

Digital Futures, Archeological Pasts

Through December 6, 2018 (Gallery closed 11/17/18-11/25/18)

Fine Arts Gallery

Hours